Sergeant, Signal Corps, U. S. A.

MAINE.

Portland District M. E. Campmeeting.

MARTHA'S GROVE, FRYEBURG, Aug. 13.—Last evening, Rev. Mr. Roberts, now pastor of the M. E. Church at Sharon, formerly of New Sharon, preached from the text "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect." Matt. v:48. The sermon was a clear and practical presentation of the possibilities of Christian life, showing what may and may not be secured by faith. We cannot be like God, or the angels, or Adam, in his original state, free from temptations, and the infirmities of life, from errors and mistakes in judgment. We may have pure hearts, freed from unholy desires, brought into harmony with, and complete obedience to, God's will, we may come to a perfection of love. We ought to grow in grace, and expand by obtaining richer views of God; there is no limit to such growth. Lastly we may reach perfect ability to do our own duties, not those of others, but the work belonging to us; this power is to be obtained by asking divine help for our daily needs.

The usual meeting of prayer and praise was held at 8 o'clock this morning.

The forenoon sermon was preached by Rev. Theodore Gerrish of Biddeford, from Romans v:1, the subject being "Justification by Faith." So vast is the subject that it is impossible to explore its extent, we only can gather nuggets of gold from the surface. Man was placed in the beginning under law; the universe under a government of law. Man became a transgressor, and thus a criminal, was lost forever unless saved by some power outside himself. God solved the problem of human redemption, Jesus Christ the solution; his sacrifice indicated God's law. Then when our will is crucified and we are governed by the will of God, comes the peace of which the apostle writes, a blessed inheritance. This peace comes by faith in Jesus Christ. Men denounce our faith because we do not explain its mysteries; ask them to explain the simplest things in the material world and they stumble in clouds of mystery. Faith connects us with God like the Atlantic cable; we send our messages of woe, he sends back messages of light.

At the conclusion of the sermon a member of the Troy Band sang "My Telegram," the others joining in the chorus, the words being very appropriate after Mr. Gerrish's allusion to the cable.

A social meeting was held in the Cornish Cottage at 1 p. m.

In addition to those mentioned before some New Hampshire clergymen are attending the meeting, Rev. Perry Chandler of North Conway and Rev. H. S. White of Bethlehem.

The afternoon service was under the direction of the Troy Praying Band, as it has been each day. Although this company has been at work in similar meetings for years, they never ask any pay besides their traveling expense, and for many years not even that. It is evident to every observer that their hearts are with their work.

The weather today has been charming, and brought out a good audience. During the noon intermission, groups picnicing were scattered along the bank of the Saco. The preacher, this morning, referred to the glorious view of snow-capped Mt. Washington and its nearer neighbors, as they appeared at sunrise.

Matters at Bar Harbor.

BAR HARBOR, Aug. 13.—At the Mossley Hall tennis tournament for the prize cup, three singles were played off today. The three remaining are Clarke, Paton, Paddock. The three remaining singles are to be played Monday. There was a large attendance at the grounds today. The hospitality of Mr. Howard, the proprietor of Mossley Hall, is unbounded. Every attention is shown to visitors.

A grand athletic tournament will be held next week beginning on Monday. There will be a match in athletics, boating and sailing, base ball and foot ball. A horse tournament is also expected. The games will continue four days. Charles F. Fall of Boston is chairman of the committee.

There is a German tonight at Rodick's, largely attended by visitors from other hotels.

Educational Matters.

FORT FAIRFIELD, Aug. 13.—The Aroostook Educational Association was in session yesterday and today, it being the largest session assembly ever held in the county. Superintendent Luce, Professor Purington of Farmington and Professor Estabrooks of Gorham were present.

Hanlan's Second Trial to Beat the Record.

WORCESTER, Mass., Aug. 13.—Edward Hanlan, the oarsman, made his second trial against time on Lake Quinsigamond this afternoon, but a stiff breeze prevented any good time. He made it in 20.53, the turning of the stake being made in 9.47.

FROM WASHINGTON.

No More Presidential Postmasters To Be Appointed at Present.

Official Construction of a Recent Executive Order.

A Rumor About the President.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—It is rumored at Indianapolis that Senator McDonald has been offered a cabinet position. With Congressman Matson he left that city for Washington yesterday.

Construction of the President's Order.

Robert L. Taylor, of Tennessee, is a candidate for governor of that State. He is also a United States pension agent at Knoxville. He wanted to attend the convention, but did not desire to violate President Cleveland's order concerning "Federal office-holders in politics." So he wrote to the Commissioner of Pensions if it would be improper for him to go. The reply is the official construction of the meaning of the recent executive order. Acting Commisioner of Pension McLean replied as follows:

In reply to your letter I have the honor to inform you, in pursuance of the instructions of the Secretary of the Interior, that it is better for you not to attend the convention. While no doubt exists as to your good faith in the proposed action, your presence at the convention will place you and the administration, if not in a false position, in one subject to misconstruction.

WILLIAM E. MCLEAN.

Nothing New in the Cutting Case.

It is reported at the state department in Washington that there are no new developments in the Cutting business.

Wanted—The President's Check.

The headquarters of both Congressional committees in this city are stagnant and lifeless to an extent never before known at this period in a congressional year. Both complain of want of funds. At Democratic headquarters they are anxiously looking for a thousand dollar contribution which Chairman Phil Thompson promised them from the President, and fears are expressed that Mr. Cleveland will forget to draw the check before he leaves for the Adirondacks.

Thompson's Thunderbolts to Fall.

Treasury clerks are beginning to fear that the change from Assistant Secretary Smith to Assistant Secretary Thompson has not improved their security of tenure as they hoped it would. It is learned on the best authority that Secretary Thompson has directed the different heads of bureaus to bring him confidentially the names of clerks now serving, who, in their opinion, would not be found competent for appointment if they were now to apply under civil service rules. Mr. Thompson's stenographer has been engaged for several days in a private room preparing an abstract of these reports, which, when completed, will be followed within the next few days by the dismissal of a large number of clerks, most of whom are women advanced in years, who have been a long time in the department.

Treasurer Jordan to Resign.

The Evening Star has the following: "It is said that Treasurer Jordan contemplates sending in his resignation. It is also said that he does not quite agree with Secretary Fairchild on financial questions. He was very much opposed to the $10,000,000 bond call, which was issued yesterday. His policy, which it is believed Secretary Manning would have carried out, was to call in no more bonds than the law required for a sinking fund, Mr. Fairchild is not so radical.

An Announcement About Appointments.

There will be no further appointments of Presidential postmasters until after the return of the President from his summer vacation.

The Bond Call.

The amount of the three per cent. bonds held to secure national bank note circulation included in the 140th call issued yesterday is $7,856,750.

A Republican Appointed by the President.

The President today appointed William H. Webster to be chief examiner for the civil service commission, to succeed Lyman, recently promoted to be a member of the civil service commission. Webster is a Republican and is now chief of division in the Pension office. He has been president of the democratic club of this city since the civil service commission since its organization.

THE CUTTING CASE.

A Statement of the Entire Matter Officially Published in Mexico.

The Judge Who Tried the Case Makes a Statement of the Actual Facts.

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 13.—The Dario, the official government organ for the publication of decrees, department decisions, etc., today, contains important documents regarding the Cutting case, including the full text of the decision of Judge Zubia, at Paso del Norte, which show clearly and unmistakably that the court held Cutting for a crime begun on American soil and continued simultaneously in Texas and Mexico. This puts a new phase on the case and shows that Judge Zubia regarded the case as continuous act. In passing sentence on Cutting the Judge said the basis of the criminal proceeding against him was: First, the proof before him that he committed an offence classed as a crime, the law and evidence of which was afforded beyond dispute by the publication which appeared in El Centinela, June 6th last, a paper published on Mexican soil. Secondly, that, although it was true there was an act of conciliation which would have satisfied the offended party had it been complied with, it was also true that this act of conciliation was not fulfilled and, therefore, the crime still stands. Third, proof of lack of compliance with the act of conciliation is found in a communication printed by Cutting in the El Paso Sunday Herald, in which he renews his defamatory charges against Medina, and at the same time publishes an article in El Centinela, on Mexican soil, in which he suppressed capital letters and puts Medina's name in microscopic type in order to make its reading difficult. Fourth, the renewal of the charges does not constitute a new offence, but is the continuation of previous charges. Fifth, that this being so, the criminal responsibility of Cutting arose from the publication in the El Centinala, which was renewed in a Texas paper. His renewal or ratification not constituting a new crime, which will be punished with differenalty than that which corresponds to publication. The Judge further says:

Even supposing, without conceding it, that the crime of defamation had been committed in Texas, the fact that Cutting had, in Paso Del Norte, exposed copies of the Sunday Herald, of which Medina complains, and which were by order of the court seized on the premises of Cutting on Mexican soil, constitutes properly consummation of the crime according to the penal code. Judge Zubia lays special emphasis on the fact that Cutting actually circulated on Mexican soil his renewal of the libel published in Texas. This renewal of libel published in Texas is an offence, were case reversed, which would be punishable under the present code in Texas.

A Murder Committed by Mexicans.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Secretary Bayard denies the report that the cabinet has accepted an offer from the Mexican government to have a special envoy from this country look into the Cutting matter.

Secretary Bayard received a despatch from Minister Jackson tonight stating that Rasures, who was sent across the border by Texas, was killed by Mexicans while trying to escape at night. Consul Lynn, stationed at Pedros Nemas, informs the State Department that when at his mother's request Rasures' body was exhumed, it was found he had been shot while blindfolded with a towel, and with hands pinioned at his sides.

RAGING FLAMES.

Report from the Western Regions Suffering from Fire.

EAU CLARE, Wis., Aug. 13.—Latest reports from the Chippewa fire districts were received from several woodsmen who arrived from Deer Tail, an important feeder of Chippewa, last evening. They have traveled considerably over the burnt and unburnt districts north of here and say no territory can escape the devastation of the flames in the present dry condition. The Superior regions are well burnt over, but the fires have broken out afresh in a number of localities on the Upper Chippewa since Tuesday, and are raging fearfully. Of the escaped territory so far are the tracts along the Deer Tail toward the Sault Ste Marie, on which is plenty of chipping and windfalls which will offer most combustible food for the flames, which are expected to reach that locality within a day or two. Settlements are sparse in that direction and the loss will be confined to standing pine and hemlock.

On Yellow river, forty miles northwest of here, the fires have done irreparable damage. Hurlburt Brothers of this city, narrowly escaped with the loss of their mill and a quantity of lumber. The fires were having their own way but men are now stationed at logging camps and hay marshes to save that property if possible. The Chippewa districts so far escaped with less damage than other districts eastward. The Lumber Manufacturers and the Mutual Insurance Company of this city, has sent an agent to the fire districts, to look over matters and see that all protection neccessary is furnished to saw mills and other property on which the corporation holds risks.

THE SQUIRE HEARING.

Testimony Before Mayor Grace in New York Yesterday.

One of the Witnesses Does Not Appear and Cannot be Found.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The hearing in the case of Commissioner of Public Works Squire before Mayor Grace was continued today in the Mayor's office, which was thronged with people.

John B. Adamson, one of the Commissioners of Accounts, was called as the first witness by Mr. Strahan, counsel for the defence. He was asked to give the history of the charges. This was objected to and the Mayor, after consulting with the Corporation counsel, admitted the question.

Mr. Strahan—"You are allowed to proceed by permission of one who has no connection with the case."

Commissioner Adamson said that he only knew the charges incidentally. His colleague, Commissioner Shearman, got up the charges.

The Mayor's private secretary was next called as a witness. He testified that David S. White, was the Mayor's stenographer in 1885. He was paid out of the appropriation fund of the Bureau of Permits. White was removed.

Strahan said that he wanted to show that the Mayor was restricted by law to a certain amount for salaries in his office, and when he found that exceeded he went outside into other departments for funds to pay his clerks. He offered in evidence the printed estimates for the year 1885, in which the sum of $30,000 was appropriated for that purpose.

Auditor Lyon of the Comptroller's office produced a number of pay-rolls, and described the duties of skilled laborers. The witness audited the pay-rolls.

Mr. Strahan also offered in evidence all of the pay-rolls of the comptroller's office, but the offer was declined. The mayor said that so far as his own office was concerned he had his objection to the publicity.

The name of Dock Commissioner Koch was called, but he did not answer. Mr. Strahan said he would show by the missing witness that Hubert O. Thompson nominated William R. Grace for Mayor at the Chickering Hall meeting in 1884.

Mr. Strahan announced that he had only one more witness to call, Col. John Tracy, and he expected that he would be on hand after recess.

After recess Col. Tracy did not appear, and it was said that no trace of him could be found. Under the circumstances, Mr. Strahan said he could not close his case and asked for an adjournment until after the trial on the criminal indictment. The Mayor refused to postpone the hearing in spite of Mr. Strahan's objections, and declared the case closed and all the parties withdrew from the court. The Mayor said after the hearing that he could not name any special time at which his decision would be forwarded to Governor Hill. They might never be forwarded. He had been offered and had refused a bet of $1,000 that he would be out of office before the Commissioner of Public Works. The offer to bet was made by Col. "Bob" Ingersoll.

A TERRIFIC WIND.

A Part of the Great St. Louis Bridge Carried Away.

KEOKUK, Ia., Aug. 13.—A hurricane passed over here last evening doing great damage to buildings and leveling fences and trees. A number of business houses were unroofed and the spire of the First Baptist church blown down.

A violent wind storm passed over St. Louis last evening, lasting for about half an hour. At East St. Louis the storm struck the approach to the big bridge with full force, carrying away about one hundred fifty feet of the wood work on the north side and sixty on the south side. It was tumbled on the track below. No trains were on the track at the time.

Burlington, Iowa, was visited by an exceedingly violent thunder and wind storm that time it wrought great damage.

Patrick Eagan Interviewed.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Patrick Egan, president of the Irish American National League arrived in this city today. Michael Davitt, owing to an unforeseen delay en route did not reach Chicago until this evening. Egan was asked today:

"Do you expect much trouble at the forthcoming convention?"

"Very likely. Of course there may be some differences, but we apprehend nothing of a serious nature."

"Will not the gentlemen who constitute the Palmer House committee be likely to make things lively?"

"Not at all. We don't expect much trouble from them. These gentlemen have no connection with the League."

Mr. Egan stated emphatically that he would not be a candidate for reelection as president of the National League.

"Is this merely a local trouble, or does it extend outside of Chicago?"

"It is entirely confined to Chicago."

"It has been the impression that local trouble and dissensions in outside States had their origin in different sources, and that the split in Chicago began in the Ancient Order of Hibernians."

"I don't think so. I believe that the trouble originated from the malice and jealousy of a few men here toward Alexander Sullivan. That is the short and long of it."

Dover, N. H., Items.

DOVER, N. H., Aug. 13.—Delegates from the Order of the Sons of St. George from this section of New England to the national convention at Buffalo, N. Y., are Charles H. Ogden, of Sanford, Me.; John Thompson, of Lawrence, Mass.; James Wilkinson, of Dover, N. H., and Charles Hill, of Manchester, N. H. They leave tomorrow.

On July, at the call of Master Workman Gibson, of Farmington, the Assembly of Knights of Labor, several assemblies not belonging to District Assembly 124, of Manchester, met here and organized a district assembly, and chose delegates to the national convention in Richmond, Va., next month. Grand Master Powderly did not recognize the legality of the act and orders another convention in Dover in August.

The International Cricket Match.

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 13.—The international cricket match between teams from Canada and the United States began on the grounds of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club today. The Canadian team went first to the wickets and scored 123 runs before eleven wickets had fallen. Harley headed the score with an inning of 39 runs; Henry and Gillespie followed with 19 runs each. The United States team were easily disposed of by the fine bowling and fielding of the Canadians with 55 runs. The second inning was opened, and when the stumps were drawn at 6 o'clock the Canadian team had scored 19 runs without losing a wicket.

Gilmore of Hyde Park; Judge of Probate, R. S. Page of Hyde Park; State Attorney, L. S. Thompson of Stowe; Sheriff, Luke Potter of Waterville. Yachting Notes.

Cattle Mysteriously Burned.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Seventeen head of cattle were unloaded at the stock yards yesterday from a car over the Chicago & Atlantic road. Nearly every one of them showed bad burns on their sides and backs, and all were suffering fearfully. Nobody knew anything about the stock, but it is claimed that they had been taken from the yards the day before. It is supposed the top of the car took fire. The cattle were bought by one of the packing companies.

The rain prevented them from finishing the race. Harry Wilkes has won two heats and Majolica one. In the 2.19 class, trotting, purse $1250, White Socks took the first money, Fanny L. second, and Rix third. Best time, 2.26½.

FOREIGN.

A Catholic Tarred and Feathered by Orangemen.

Five Hundred Additional Policemen Sent to Protect Belfast.

Forty Miners Killed by an Explosion at Leigh, England.

BELFAST, Aug. 13.—The excitement occasioned by the riots was renewed at 2 o'clock this afternoon by an outrage, committed by Orangemen of Queen's Island upon a Catholic named Johnson. The latter was returning to his home from work when he was seized by the Orangemen and given a coat of tar and feathers. The Catholics vow vengeance.

Five hundred additional policemen arrived today. Since Saturday 50 seriously wounded patients have been treated at the Royal Hospital. Two hundred more have been cared for at private surgeries, and it is estimated that 200 others received wounds in the riots whose cases have not been reported.

Rain continues to fall, keeping the streets clear of people. The authorities intend to order all taverns closed at 5 o'clock this evening and keep them closed until 10 o'clock Monday morning.

The city has been fairly quiet today. There was some throwing stones, but no serious disturbance. This evening some Protestant roughs seized a barrel of porter on a dray and kicked a woman for refusing to lend them a truck upon which to remove the barrel. The police interfered and took the men into custody. All the taverns in the city have been closed until Monday. A number of Catholics today waited upon the Mayor and implored him to protect his Catholic employes.

A constable has been committed for trial for assaulting a citizen with his baton last June.

Irish Press on Salisbury.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The London Standard of this morning says that the utterances of the Irish press on Lord Salisbury's speech Wednesday night will open the eyes of the English home rulers to the character of their new allies, some of whom traduced and villified Lord Spencer. This is a critical moment of Parnell's career as a leader, the Standard thinks.

Forty Miners Perish.

A despatch from Leigh, England, states that a terrible explosion occurred this morning in a colliery at that place. One hundred and forty miners were below at the time, and many were shockingly burned.

A later despatch says that forty miners perished by the explosion.

Four Hundred Families Homeless.

The Hungarian town of Hulle has been burned. The property destroyed includes 400 houses, a church, a nunnery and a school house. Loss $250,000.

THE SEA MONSTER AGAIN.

Reported Seen Off Pigeon Cove, Mass., Thursday.

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—Mr. G. B. Putnam, master of the Franklin School, Boston, announces the appearance of the sea serpent off Pigeon Cove, Mass., yesterday afternoon.

He states that it was first observed by a little son of Calvin W. Pooler, a surveyor, who brought a powerful glass to bear upon it and was at once satisfied that it was a veritable sea serpent. It was about a quarter of a mile from shore and about two miles from where he was seen last month. It was moving slowly in a northerly direction. The sea was smooth at the time, with a bright sunshine, so the best possible opportunity was offered to observe the movements of the strange animal. The distance passed over by the serpent while being observed was at least a mile, and the time occupied not far from twenty minutes.

Mr. Putnam was able with a marine glass to observe the movements which corresponded fully with those described by Dr. Sanborn last month, as well as by other persons who claim to have seen the serpent. The head was frequently raised partially out of the water and the movement was a vertical one, showing from ten to fifteen ridges of coil. The serpent seemed about 80 feet long.

There were perhaps fifty persons who witnessed the passage, including Samuel Bullock, master of Bunker Hill school, Professor Stephen Emery, of the New England Conservatory, with his family, Captain Jackson, man's family; also a small number of hotel guests. A school of porpoises also passed at the same time, so an opportunity was offered to compare their appearance with that of the serpent.

HALIFAX TOURNAMENT ENDED.

Winners in the Races—Frey of Bangor, Me., Takes Two More Prizes.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 13.—The firemen's three days' tournament closed last night, having proved the most successful affair of the kind ever attempted in this section of the continent. The sports on the riding grounds in the afternoon were largely attended and passed off smoothly.

Philip Frey of Bangor, Me., again distinguished himself by winning the two principal foot races of half a mile and a quarter of a mile, and carrying off prizes of $50 and $30.

Dartmouth took the first prize in the hose reel competition, with Truro second. Five other teams competed. The distance was 300 yards, and the prizes were $100 and $50.

Halifax won the tug-of-war and $100, beating Truro, N. S., Portland, N. B., and Charlottetown, P. E. I.

The torchlight procession in the evening was on a most magnificent scale, and the city was ablaze with illumination. The management of the tournament, which was in the hands of the Halifax Union Engine Company, was entirely satisfactory throughout, and citizens and visitors are delighted over the success of the celebration.

[The Frey of Bangor mentioned above is D. W. Strong, a cigar maker. He has quite a reputation as a runner.]

STRONG EVIDENCE

Against Mrs. Robinson, Charged with Wholesale Poisoning.

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—The circumstantial evidence against Mrs. Sarah Jane Robinson, a woman under arrest at Somerville charged with wholesale poisoning, is daily growing stronger and stronger. It is now learned that since her husband died four years ago eight others, either relatives or intimate friends of Mrs. Robinson, have died under suspicious circumstances. Each was attended by a different physician, and interviews with these gentlemen show that they were in each case unable to fathom the disease that eventually carried off their patient. Only two of the physicians had suspicions of poisoning but they were so faint and apparently unsubstantiated that they did not report their suspicions to the authorities. In each case, too, Mrs. Robinson would appear willing and anxious that everything possible should be dohe for the sufferers, although in no case would she consent to an autopsy. The woman is becoming more and more deeply involved as the investigation proceeds.

Business Troubles.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co. and E. Russell & Co. of the Mercantile Agency, number for the United States, 141; and for Canada, 16; or a total of 157, as compared with a total of 154 last week, and 192 the week previous to the last. Business casualties appear to be on the decrease in every section of the country.

Strike of Weavers.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 13.—The weavers of the Barnard Mills struck this afternoon. Since the spinners' strike, which began two weeks ago, the mill has purchased filling from Rhode Island mills. The yarn was of inferior quality and the caps did not fit the shuttles. There has been much waste and less production for the weavers, who, after much complaint, finally struck work in a body.

Vital Statistics of New Hampshire.

DOVER, N. H., Aug. 13.—The annual report of the State Registrar for 1884, just issued, shows that there were 6247 births, 2292 marriages and 6194 deaths in the State that year. Birth rate per 1000, 18; marriage, 9.38; death, 27.85. Divorces in 1870 numbered 149; in 1881, 315. Of the deaths, 868 were from consumption; pneumonia, 436; heart disease, 483; old age, 450; apoplexy, 440.

A Fish Story.

BASE BALL.

The New England League.

GAME TODAY.

The Portlands will play the Brocktons again this afternoon. McGunnigle and Madden will probably do the pitching.

PORTLANDS, 14; BROCKTONS, 8.

A great crowd saw the base ball game on the Portlands' grounds yesterday afternoon. It was a loosely played game, in which the Portlands outfielded the visitors, who pounded the ball for a total of 20 bases. The play of Meister at second base was poor, but the visitors rolled up a total of 21 hits. Thayer played his usual excellent game, and his pluck in playing under the bat after receiving a severe cut over the left eye from a foul ball was heartily applauded. Sheffler played a fine centre field, capturing five hard balls. Kearns led the batting for the Portlands, with a total of five bases. For the visitors, Hawes, Patton and Tuckerman each handled the stick with vigor, the latter two getting home runs. The only noticeable feature of the game was Tuckerman's catch of a hot ball from Reilly's bat, making a double play. The score follows:

New Bedford is condoling with Gloucester and Portland. It has been a poor season for whales as well as mackerel.

The extradition treaty with England must be enlarged so as to cover base ball players. They too have taken to skipping to Canada.

The Mikado of Japan has ordered the English language to be taught in the schools of his realm. In English speaking lands scholars learn the Mikado.

The victims of yachting accidents are increasing in numbers very fast this summer. Too many people think they know all about handling a sail boat.

The Rockland Opinion warmly endorses the platform of the Second district labor convention, but keeps the name of Alonzo Garcelon at the head of its columns. Perhaps it is waiting for him to withdraw.

A million and a half dollars of the public funds have been stolen in Cuba, but the officials who might do it seem to be so many that the Governor General is at his wits ends to find the thieves. He has almost as trying a position as the mayor of New York.

The Rockland Opinion declares that Eben F. Pillsbury "is to-day, beyond any question, the most popular public man in New England with the Democrats of Maine, his native State, and Massachusetts, his adopted State." The worst thing that can be said about this is that it seems to be true.

"What caused the Belfast riots?" is the question now puzzling the English. While they may not be able to find the particular hoodlum who threw the first stone, they will be safe in concluding that the riots happened because the old hatred between Catholics and Protestants had been aroused by the late elections and by the intemperate utterances of the opponents of home rule—especially Lord Randolph Churchill.

The forest fires in Michigan and Wisconsin this month are great calamities. From the descriptions given of them it is very easy to realize that they are public calamities, but it is not so easy to realize that nearly every forest fire, great or small, is a public calamity. Were it so there would be less destruction resulting from sheer recklessness or stupidity. Not a summer goes by in Maine without abundant examples of the temerity with which some people will start a fire in the woods.

A very pretty little story of self abnegation in behalf of civil service reform comes from Tennessee. Col. Robert M. Taylor was made pension agent at Knoxville by Mr. Cleveland. Of course he was informed that a public office is a public trust, and that he must attend strictly to the duties of his office, and bid his unruly heart be still when the political clans of Tennessee should be up in arms at the next election. As has been the case with a good many of the inoffensive partisans appointed by this administration, Col. Taylor smiled very sanctimoniously whenever anything was said about politics, and appeared to be very much absorbed in his pension business. This of course pleased the authorities at Washington; but what was their horror a few days ago to receive from Taylor a letter stating that he, the aforesaid inoffensive partisan, had the pins all set up and was certain to be nominated Governor of Tennessee; would it be anything out of the way for him to be on hand to return thanks to the nominating convention? Had he been an Indiana postmaster he would have gone without leave, and never heard anything more about it, but the Interior Department, unwilling to let so scrupulous an officer err when no one but himself was to profit by it, sent back the answer that it would be highly improper for him to be seen in the convention. It is not related whether he went or not, but the papers say that Robert M. Taylor has been nominated for Governor of Tennessee.

MR. BODWELL'S LETTER.

Mr. Bodwell's letter of acceptance discusses at considerable length the issues now before the people of Maine and gives his opinions in regard to them with admirable clearness and force. For many years a large employer of labor, he has thoroughly acquainted himself with the needs of the workingman, and consequently his utterances on that subject are something more than the words of a theorist. They are the teachings of experience, and carry with them far greater force than if spoken by a man devoid of practical knowledge of the subject. The man that utters them has toiled himself for wages. He has therefore a thorough understanding of the needs of the wage-workers; he can view their case from their standpoint. He has been a capitalist, too, an employer of labor, and thoroughly comprehends the difficulties which beset that class. Having studied both sides of the question in the school of experience his conclusions are pretty certain to be wise and for the highest good of both the laborer and the employer. Being the result of mature judgment based on accurate knowledge, his opinions are certain also to be tenaciously held. Mr. Bodwell lays down five specific things which he believes would result to the advantage of both employer and employe.

First, a board of arbitration to settle disputes between the employer and the employed.

Second, a ten hour law.

Third, abolition of imprisonment for debt.

Fourth, abolition of the trustee process so far as relates to the wages of labor.

Fifth, a law forbidding the employment of children of tender age in factories.

It has been Mr. Bodwell's conviction for many years that laws embodying these points should be placed upon our statute book, and legislation in that direction would receive his cordial assistance and approval. But these acts, potent as they may be for the improvement of the condition of the laboring man, Mr. Bodwell considers of small importance compared with the maintenance of the protective system which the Republican party is pledged to uphold, and which the Democratic party has for years been striving to break down. His utterances on this point should claim the earnest attention of every laboring man in Maine. While the Maine Democracy have been conciliating the laboring man with promises of legislation in his behalf, the representatives of that party in Congress have been plotting for the overthrow of a system which is of incalculably more consequence to him than all their promises, even if fulfilled to the letter, could be. The Democracy have been offering him delicacies with one hand and taking away his substantial food with the other.

A thorough and consistent advocate of prohibition himself Mr. Bodwell's words on that subject will be accepted as the warnings of a friend. He clearly points out that the effect of this third party movement, if it has any, must inevitably be to commit the prohibitory law to a party which avowedly hates it, and which many times in its conventions has advocated its modification, and which no longer ago than last June formally declared hostility to it.

Mr. Bodwell favors a most liberal policy towards the surviving soldiers of the war of the Rebellion and their families. He holds that their claims should be regarded as a first mortgage upon the treasury of their country, and that no loyal soldier needing help should be turned away empty handed, even though formal proof is lacking that his disability was the direct result of service in the field. "Better," he says, referring to the Presidential vetoes, "for an irregular case to escape the scrutiny of our law-makers than that the risk be incurred of throwing honorable soldiers as paupers upon the charity of the world."

The letter is in every respect an admirable one, and we bespeak for it a thorough and attentive reading by the people of Maine. The opinions therein expressed are, we believe, sound and will be heartily endorsed by the liberal and progressive people of the State. With Mr. Bodwell in the executive chair we can be certain that Maine will take no backward step.

Now it is Lord Randolph Churchill who is drafting a bill to solve the Irish problem. His scheme is said to provide for a comprehensive system of local self government, giving to Ireland, England, Scotland and Wales, each the control of its own affairs, but keeping each subject to the Imperial Parliament in all affairs pertaining to the welfare of the realm. The plan is also intended to be of such flexibility that it can be extended to the colonies when the occasion shall be favorable. This is some such a plan as has been advocated by Chamberlain for a long time; and abstractly considered, it seems to afford a very excellent solution of the present troubles in Ireland, and also to anticipate many other troubles which appear imminent in the Empire and the colonies. But stable forms of government are not worked out as a mathematical problem is solved. They are a result of growth, of a groping after remedies for unbearable evils. Mr. Gladstone is statesman enough to realize this, and his plan of dealing with the grievances as they are has commended itself to those principally interested, the Irish, and to a very large portion of the English and Scotch people. The schemes advocated by Churchill and Chamberloin, on the other hand, are neither acceptable to the Irish nor demanded by any large party in the rest of the kingdom.

CURRENT COMMENT.

REFORM IN UNEXPECTED PLACES.
Boston Journal.

That the Indiana Democrats have screwed up their courage to a mild approval of high license shows that the growth of temperance sentiment is recognized, even among Indiana Bourbons.

FROM AN INLAND POINT OF VIEW.
Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette.

In the harbor of Halifax lies a British fleet which could enter our chief ports in spite of any defences which they now have. The rules of Canada toward our fishing vessels are like those of the nations of savages which plunder all ships driven on their coast, and they are enforced with insolence before the British naval power, and must leave all to John Bull's magnanimity. And it will end as before, in our buying the privilege of landing on the coast, and of buying bait, and paying more for it in money and duties than the gross value of the whole catch of fish.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The Children of Old Park's Tavern; A Story of the South Shore, by Frances A. Humphrey, has for its scene of action the town of Byfield, Mass., at a time when its famous old tavern was in its glory. It tells of the children who lived there, the friends who visited them, and the guests who, in country parlance, "put up" at that quaint hostelry. It is a pretty and vivacious account of a phase of New England life now quite passed away, which will seem to the young people of to-day very queer and incredible. (New York: Harper & Brothers; Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon).

Mr. Robert B. Roosevelt's Love and Luck is a delightful history of fishing and hunting with an agreeable party, in and about the Great South Bay. The Love and Luck are so charmingly entangled that it is difficult and entirely unnecessary, to know where one begins and the other ends. The pretty volume is a pleasant prescription for the summer holidays, and should be taken while one swings idly in a hammock, to the accompaniment of the wind sighing among the trees, and the chirping of the insects in the grass (New York: Harper & Brothers; (Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon)

As Common Mortals (New York: Cassell & Co.; Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon), is a novel written with courage and a helpful purpose, and proves to be more than ordinarily interesting. The chief defect in the book is a somewhat awkward plot; but the style is good and the substance original and carefully studied. The author has a quiet and keen sense of humor, and excellent power of description, and her book is very readable, which is certainly more than can be said of the latest productions of Messrs. Howells and James.

Mrs. Eugenie Hamerton's novel is entitled Golden Mediocrity. Omitting the adjective, the name is happily descriptive, for anything more commonplace and dull than the whole story can scarcely be conceived. The English is hopelessly confused and incorrect—it is not for a certain refined and sprightly tone that pervades its pages Mrs. Hamerton's book must sink to the level of the most crude and amateurish of works. (Boston: Roberts Brothers; Portland: Loring Short & Harmon).

Misfits and Remnants. By L. D. Ventura and S. Shevitch (Boston: Ticknor & Co; Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon) proves to be a collection of very light sketches or stories, prettily bound. The first story, Peppino, should be headed "for men only," as the writer requests you, when you visit New York, to take neither the horse car nor the omnibus through Union Square to Barclay street, but to "light a good cigar, and quietly pursue your way on foot." This special story is evidently one of the "Misfits" if the reader is "but yet a woman."

Mr. Roberts's Santa Barbara and Around There, contains an illustrated description of Camulos Ranch, the home of Mrs. Jackson's heroine, Ramona, which is an attractive and striking feature in a very pleasant little volume. There is much of interest in Santa Barbara, and Mr. Roberts finds in it a strong resemblance to Nice, with the exception that Santa Barbara has none of the lavish improvements of Nice, and is natural rather than artificial. (Boston: Roberts Brothers; Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon.)

Miss Melinda's Opportunity, a story dedicated to "the Lady from Philadelphia," is one of the best of its class, and as useful, bright and clever as the other stories of Mrs. Campbell, The What-To-Do Club and Mrs. Hernden's Income. The young folks who do not enjoy such cheery, earnest and entertaining books do not deserve to be either amused or instructed. (Boston: Roberts Brothers; Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon).

Mrs. Lillie's stories have a great charm for all classes of readers, young or old, and Jo's opportunity, a prettily illustrated volume in the Harper's Young People Series, is no exception. Jo was a fortunate girl to have had such an opportunity, and we are much interested in the way she made the most of it. (New York: Harper & Brothers; Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon.)

WIT AND WISDOM.

Dr. G., of Edinburgh, was distinguished alike for his gallantry and sense of humor. One evening, at a ball in the city, a certain lady of mature age, had the misfortune to receive some slight mishap to the profusion drapery on her train. "And, doctor," she exclaimed, in referring to the incident afterward, "it was so vexing to lose part of my train. I'm afraid I appeared very awkward." "Madame," he quickly responded, "by no means. Though you did lose a portion of your train, believe me, you still retained your elegant carriage."

All cases of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, &c., will find relief by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price 25 cents.

It is sometimes very trying to be found lacking in knowledge on certain points with which the rest of the world is evidently conversant. Fortunately, however, we do not always appreciate our mistakes.

"How do you like Tennyson?" said a young man to a society belle, as they chatted between the dances.

"Oh," said she, innocently, "I neverwas there. Is it a pretty place?"

Her partner's answer is not recorded.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are free from all crude and irritating matter. Concentrated medicine only; very small; very easy to take; no pain; no griping; no purging.

When Longfellow translated the "Divina Commedia, everyone was obliged, by the examiners of the learned, to admire it, and a knowledge of Dante at once became imperative. The name of the great Italian was in the mouth of the fashionable and would-be "cultured" circles of Boston from morning till night. When the rage was at its height a stranger arrived in Boston to whom a friend, a native of the city, at once put the pertinent inquiry:

"Do you like Dante?"

"No," was the answer. "I don't know him. Who is he?"

"Come along!" cried his delighted friend. "Keep me in countenance. It isn't respectable not to like Dante. I'm the only man in Massachusetts who doesn't, and I detest his very name. Come to dinner with me!"

Are you costive? Then you should use Dr. Soule's Pills. Their effect is magical.

A small boy wanted something of his mother the other day when she was very busy writing. She was absorbed in her work and did not look up at his repeated call of "Mamma, Mamma," beside her elbow. "Well," said he at last, flinging away from her in a pet, "it's no use to try to make my mamma hear when she is writing; she is just ignominious of everything."

A Novel Experiment.

About a year ago a common fodder plant, tasteless as wood, was accidently found to have a remarkable sustaining power after hard labor, either mental or physical, acting on the nerves like a food. Two hundred and seventy girls, who were engaged at piece-work in a large establishment in New York, conceived the idea of buying a large amount of the manufacturer at the wholesale price and take it constantly. At the end of six months they found his support had made it possible to do almost double the amount of work by giving increased strength, and preventing overwork from compelling them to lose time by resulting illness. If all classes of people were as shrewd as these girls, whose necessities drove them to the experiment, it would improve things very much. The plant in question was accidentally discovered by Dr. Mozie. It seems to be wholly a nerve food, and has created a great deal of interest lately. It stops nervousness and nervous exhaustion at once. The druggists sell it, and it is known as Moxie Nerve Food. It is said to be so cheap, most any one can afford to take it the year round—ten cents worth a day is about its cost.

In New York and Chicago the young men tipple all the evening, and then knock their boozy out with a mug of the Moxie Nerve Food, which is now getting to be known as the great dissipation repeller. It takes nervous exhaustion out of a woman in a week, breaks up a recent drunk in an hour; and now husbands can have a good time until 12 M., drink a mug of Moxie at 12-15, arrive home perfectly sober at 1.30, and make the wife believe they have been at work in the counting room like a good boy. If it will make an editor's pocket feel better, we want a barrel.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

PORTLAND WHOLESALE MARKET.

PORTLAND, Aug. 13, 1886.

The general tone of the wholesale market is quiet with prices barely maintained in some departments. Flour quiet and prices generally unchanged with rather easy feeling on spring wheat patents. The spring wheat crop is threshing out 19 to 22 bush to the acre, which is 3 to 5 bush more than the estimate. Sugar has dropped ¼c, closing to-day at 6⅜c for granulated and 5⅞c for Extra, while at New York the market was more steady and a trifle higher.

PROBABLE MURDER.

Timothy Shortsleeves, alias Rillihan, Shot in the Back.

Charles O'Neil the Alleged Shooter of His Barkeeper.

Jealousy Said to be the Cause of the Deed.

O'Neil Succeeds in Securing His Escape.

At about twenty minutes to 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Charles O'Neil, who keeps a liquor saloon on Washington street, shot and probably fatally wounded a man known as Timothy Rillahan.

The trouble between O'Neil and Rillahan has been brewing for some time. Rillahan has been employed by O'Neil as a barkeeper. O'Neil became jealous of Rillahan, whom he thought was too intimate with Mrs. O'Neil, and the barkeeper left the O'Neil saloon about a week ago. Since that time both O'Neil and Rillahan have been drunk.

Thursday O'Neil took his wife to ride. He drove out into the country, and Mrs. O'Neil says accused her of having had an improper intimacy with Rillahan. Mrs. O'Neil denied the accusation, and stuck to her denial when her husband took his jack-knife and cut her on the wrists. O'Neil also tried to ascertain where his wife had deposited her money. The woman named the wrong place, and thinking he had learned the truth, O'Neil left his wife on India street, and drove off. Mrs. O'Neil went to the house of one of her sisters, and subsequently told of her treatment to one of the police officers, but refused to make complaint against her husband.

Yesterday noon Charles O'Neil, his brother Tom O'Neil, and Patrick O'Neil, were in the saloon on Washington street, together with a number of other men, including Rillahan. Tom is said to have picked a quarrel with Rillahan, who was leaving the saloon, when Charles drew a revolver and fired a shot. Rillahan ran rapidly through the streets on the slope of the hill towards the jail. He turned and reached Madison street, and ran to the drug store of J. E. Lynch on the corner of Washington street. Rillahan cried out that he had been shot, and Dr. Rynne was summoned to attend him. The physician did what he could to make the man comfortable, but did not probe for the ball, thinking it best to have the patient sent to the hospital. Rillahan complained of feeling considerable pain, and the physician gave him a hypodermic injection to lessen his suffering. The bullet had entered the left side of the back, but Dr. Rynne thought it possible that the wound was only a flesh wound. Rich's ambulance was sent for, and upon its arrival the wounded man was taken to the Greeley Hospital.

After shooting Rillahan, O'Neil jumped into a hack at the door, and with some of the others was driven away.

William Ross was arrested shortly after the shooting by Officer Morse. Ross is wanted on an indictment in a liquor case, but has been employed as a watcher for the O'Neil establishment, and may be able to tell something of interest in regard to the shooting. Shortly after being arrested, Ross who was held in Lynch's store for awhile, Officer Morse being on duty there, made a break to get away, and had dashed through the crowd when Morse seized him, and with Officer Williams clapped the bracelets on the man and carried him back to the store, where he staid until taken to the station.

JERRY CALLAHAN'S STATEMENT.

Jerry Callahan, the hack driver, told his story at the station in a very careful way. He said that he was in O'Neil's saloon and that there were several persons there. His carriage stood outside. There was an altercation in the room, and he heard one man say, "Oh! give him a show!" and almost immediately thereafter he heard the report of a pistol. He did not see the flash and he didn't see who fired the pistol, because, at the report, he sprung to the side door to seize his horses so that they should not run away. As he went out of the door he saw Rillihan rush to the front door, in which was grouped a knot of people. As Rillihan ran down the street a man said "He can't be hurt much or he couldn't run so fast." Callahan took Charles O'Neil, Thomas O'Neil, Mr. Foss, of Old Orchard, and Mr. Stone, who keeps a dime museum, into his hack and drove down to Centre street with them, when the three others got out of the hack and went into Thomas O'Neil's while he left Charles standing on the sidewalk. Callahan said that Charles might have gone into the saloon on Centre street but of that he had no positive knowledge. He thought the shooting took place about twenty-five minutes to one because the party had intended to take the 1 p. m. train, and he carried Messrs. Foss and Stone—who returned to the carriage on Centre street—to the station in time to take the train for Biddeford. Callahan had no idea anybody had been shot, or that anything serious had happened, and he drove off from Charles O'Neil's saloon no quicker than on any ordinary occasion. He took the O'Neils and Messrs. Foss and Stone up the hill at 9 a. m., and the latter gentlemen were friends of the O'Neils, and especially of Charles, and they said when they went up there they must get back in time for the noon train.

THE NEWS OF THE SHOOTING.

The first news of the shooting received at the station was by Deputy Marshal Crowell, the deputy on duty, about fifteen minutes after it occurred. A young man named Edwards said that Charley O'Neil had fired at a man in his bar-room, but he guessed he wasn't hurt. Immediately after a telephonic message was received that O'Neil had shot Rillahan. Crowell immediately sent Officer Morse to the spot and telegraphed and telephoned all the cities and stations in the vicinity and even as far as Boston, Augusta, etc., and proceeded with Marshal Hawkes to notify all the officers and to try and secure the would-be murderer. Officer Harmon on the beat adjoining the Washington street beat, proceeded at once to the spot where the shooting occurred but arrived too late to see the flight of O'Neil and his friends. Mr. Harmon then went to the drug store where the injured man was lying and from him learned who it was who fired the shot.

MATTHEW KERWIN'S STORY.

Among those who cared for Rillahan before the arrival of the ambulance was Matthew Kerwin. Kerwin says that he was in the saloon and witnessed the shooting. He states that Tom O'Neil went up to Rillahan and appeared about to strike him. Kerwin then cried out "Give him a show," and expected to see the two men clinch, when Rillahan, who was an extremely powerful man, suddenly started towards the door. Then it was that O'Neil drew his revolver. He fired once as Rillahan ran through the doorway but Kerwin says this shot was the one which did not take effect. O'Neil started after his man and chased him towards Oxford street. Kerwin insists that it was in the street that the second shot was fired, Rillahan at the time being about thirty feet in advance of his pursuer. This shot was the one which Kerwin thinks took effect. At the time Kerwin thought however that Rillahan was not hurt as he ran like a deer. Kerwin denies that Rillahan had a knife or assaulted Tom O'Neil. He thinks that Rillahan saw O'Neil in the act of drawing his revolver and then ran to get out of the way.

THE WOUNDED MAN'S STATEMENT.

Last evening Rillihan made the following statement. He said that his real name was Timothy Shortsleeves, and that he originally came from Hudson, N. Y., where his parents reside. His father was a Frenchman by birth, and his mother an Irish woman, and the name is probably a corruption of a French name. Shortsleeves said he is 26 years old. He has been employed by Charles O'Neil in the shop on Washington street, and yesterday he was there, as were Charles and Tom O'Neil, besides several others. Charles O'Neil was behind the bar, Tom O'Neil stepped up to him—Shortsleeves—and said, "I hear you call yourself a fighting man." He replied that he didn't know about that, when Charles O'Neil came running out from behind the bar with a revolver in his hand. Shortsleeves knew the revolver because he had carried it himself. When he saw the revolver in O'Neil's hand, he started to run out of the front door. As he ran he turned his head and saw Charles O'Neil point the pistol at him and pull the trigger. A second time O'Neil cocked the pistol, but he did not fire the pistol the second time. When he fired he was about ten feet back of him.

At the time of his telling his story Shortsleeves was partly under the influence of morphine and, after making these statements to the Marshal and the physicians, he said to the Marshal "I cannot talk any more now. Tomorrow morning I shall be dead or if I am not, I will talk more with you."

THOMAS O'NEIL'S STATEMENT.

Thomas O'Neil made a statement to the Marshal that did not materially differ from what the wounded man had said except in this respect: O'Neil said that he made the remark to Shortsleeves, "I hear you call yourself a fighting man," and that then Shortsleeves hit him and he hit back. Then Shortsleeves drew a knife and cut at him, cutting his clothes in front. He did not admit that Charles O'Neil had fired any pistol at Shortsleeves.

THE PHYSICIANS' STATEMENT.

The physicians were City Physician, Dr. C. D. Smith, and Dr. G. B. Swasey, with Dr. Weeks as consulting surgeon. The surgeons state that the ball entered the back between the eleventh and twelfth ribs, just three inches to the left of the back bone, passed downwards and forwards through the left kidney and lodged in the abdominal cavity. Peritonitis had set in last evening and the indications were that the man was mortally wounded, but would live several days. He showed great nerve last night and realized his dangerous condition.

NO SIGNS OF O'NEIL.

There were no signs of Charles O'Neil last night. Rumors were many. One man said he saw him pass through the court on Cross street about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Another rumor had it that O'Neil was seen in a buggy, drawn by a young horse, and accompanied by a friend, driving furiously towards Deering about 6 o'clock. Thus far nothing definite has been obtained. The last known of his whereabouts is the information given by Callahan, that he left him on the Centre street sidewalk.

THE TWO MEN.

Charles O'Neil is about six feet tall, finely proportioned, weighs about 200 pounds, and has dark hair and dark moustache. Timothy Shortsleeves is a magnificent specimen of physique, a perfect athlete, and is about 26 years old, of medium height, and dark hair and moustache. Shortsleeves has also been known by the name of Timothy Short, Tim the Bouncer, and Tim Sullivan.

Testing an Elevator.

Messrs. Goudy & Kent, the bakers, have leased of Mr. C, H. True, the three-story brick building adjoining their establishment so that the buildings now occupied by the firm occupy the entire square and contain 35,000 square feet of floor room. Mr. True has had an elevator from the Morse Elevator Works of New York and Philadelphia put in the building and yesterday afternoon the elevator was tested in the presence of a number of prominent merchants. Everybody was satisfied at the results of the thorough trial given the elevator. The utmost care has been used to avoid accidents. Automatic hatch doors on each floor close the shaft, avoiding the danger of persons falling from one story to another and preventing the shaft from serving as a chimney in case of fire. These doors open and shut without noise as the elevator passes up and down and moves the crank levers connected with the doors. The Pneumatic Safety Clutch, besides regulating the speed of the elevator, acts promptly in case of accident to arrest the car in its fall. Yesterday when the rope was suddenly cut, the clutch did its work so perfectly that the heavily loaded elevator did not fall two inches. An ingenious device known as the slack cable shifter does away with the unwinding of the rope when the elevator is stopped suddenly.

Messrs. Goudy & Kent will use their new building for their candy manufactory and the different floors have already been provided with all the modern appliances for the making of candy.

The Rink Race.

The roller skating race at the rink at Peaks' Island, Thursday night, between the sailors of the Swatara and Tennessee, for a gold medal and the championship of the North Atlantic Squadron, resulted in a victory for Mr. Bennett of the Tennessee. The three mile race was won by him in 15 minutes 5 seconds. The following sailors entered in the race: H. P. Bennett, Frank Algier and Frank Appleblad from the Tennessee, and J. C. Postill, F. Peterson and Anton Abarno from the Swatara. The following judges were chosen: Mr. James H. Doyle from the Tennessee, and Mr. Samuel Shields from the Swatara. Mr. H. J. Hammett was chosen referee.

Funeral of Rufus Stanley.

The funeral of Rufus Stanley took place from his late residence yesterday afternoon, and was largely attended. Portland Commandery and the Odd Fellows' Veteran Association were present and acted as escort. They were accompanied by the Yarmouth band. Rev. Mr. Blanchard conducted the services at the house. The floral offerings were very beautiful, among them being memorials from Portland Commandery, Greenleaf Royal Arch Chapter and Portland Lodge. A guard of honor from Portland Commandery acted as pall-bearers. The body was interred at Evergreen Cemetery, the Knights Templar burial service being read at the grave.

The Tent Meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Doutney who are conducting Gospel temperance meetings in the large tent at the foot of Pearl street, may feel gratified at the success of their efforts. Last night a large audience was in attendance, and between thirty and forty signed the temperance pledge. Mr. Doutney spoke earnestly and effectively, his remarks being received with appreciation by the audience. He is not identified with any but Gospel temperance work. Mrs. Doutney sang very sweetly and with good effect. Meetings will be held every evening, including Sunday and Sunday afternoon.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

BOWERY BEACH.

The weather on the coast is highly characteristic of the season—dog days.

Mr. Henry Day, keeper of the Seguin lighthouse, accompanied by his wife, has been visiting his old associate Mr. Wallace, lately transferred from that station to the Cape Lights. Mr. Day, it will be remembered, is the keeper who fell down the declivity at Seguin Island, breaking his leg and sustaining other injuries from which he still suffers.

A party of six persons, coming from Windham, pitched a tent and camped two days and a night in the fir grove near the lights.

A party of some ten persons, mostly ladies and children, are having a few days outing at the cove near Two Lights. They occupy a small cottage on the premises of Mr. Murray.

The Misses Alice and Carrie Horr, of Neal street, Portland, are visiting at the Lights, the guests of the keeper.

There are now seven men employed constructing the new fog signal house at the Cape, and the work is fast progressing. The walls are erected to the cornice ready to receive the plate timbers. The heavy granite trimmings, thresholds, window caps and stools are all in position, and before the end of the week carpenters will be at work framing and erecting the roof. A description of this building, the only one of its kind on the Maine coast, will be given in this correspondence soon. M.

STATE NEWS.

AROOSTOOK COUNTY.

New Sweden continues to prosper. Last year a number of new houses were put up in the town. This year the fashion is to build barns. The Swedes are handy with tools. When one of them was asked the other day, what would be the cost of his fine barn upon which he was at work, he replied: "Me and my boys cut the logs on my farm and hauled them to the saw mill near by, and me gets them sawed near for $3 a thousand." That $3 a thousand represents the cash cost of the barn. This year about 40 Swedes have arrived from the old country. The last to arrive were two men about a fortnight ago. Those coming from the north of Sweden have settled the north part of New Sweden, on the Jemtland road, from the name of the province across the water from which they came. The Swedes declare that the first settlement was made in the poorest part of the town, and they take pride in pointing to the fair farms in the newer section of the township.

The Knights Templar had the inside track, as they held the town committee, and the committee made up a list of delegates and had it printed. The Knights of Pythias did the same, and circulated their slate during the day, quietly, but so thoroughly that when evening came they had that caucus in the hollow of their hand."

Distress After Eating

Is one of the many disagreeable symptoms of dyspepsia. Headache, heartburn, sour stomach faintness and capricious appetite are also caused by this very wide-spread and growing disease Hood's Sarsaparilla tones the stomach, creates an appetite, promotes healthy digestion, relieves the headache, and cures the most obstinate cases of dyspepsia. Read the following:

"My wife had dyspepsia. She could not keep her food down, and had that oppressed feeling after eating. She had no appetite, and was tired all the time. She tried numerous medicines with out being relieved, but the first bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla did her a great deal of good. She has taken two bottles, and can eat anything without distress, and has no trouble in retaining food." JOHN BATTENFIELD, Marion, Ohio.

All-Gone Feeling

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appotite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced. It relieved me of that faint, tired, all-gone feeling. I have felt so much better since I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I am happy to recommend it." G. A. PAGE, Watertown, Mass.
